

2011 Resource Guide

The Santa Fe Farmers' Market Institute's Micro Loan Program, run in collaboration with the Permaculture Credit Union, started in January 2008, and more than one third of the Market's 150 vendors have utilized it. The Institute conducted follow-up interviews with participating vendors in order to document outcomes of the micro loan program and to gain advice from those using the program. The 2011 Resource Guide is a listing of resources purchased by the vendors who received loans from the Institute. We compiled it so that northern New Mexico agricultural producers could have access to reliable sources for a variety of products and needs. We realize that many good sources may not be included in these pages, so please contact us so we can make it as inclusive as possible!
